

Apology Letter to Parents

Dear Parents,

I just had to tell you, Mom and Dad, that I lied about last Wednesday. Rather than joining you for our annual family trip to Colorado, I went to see a concert there. I apologize for deceiving you. I understand how crucial the annual get-together is for us all. Everyone else made efforts so that the event would be a success.

I know I disappointed you by lying, and I'm sorry for going against everything you've taught me. I'll do better next time, and help out with the meet-up like I said I would.

Again, so sorry– please forgive me.

Sincerely,

Your Son/Daughter
